Kate Colby is branded from birth by a Touch of Madness. Her mother, Ruth, blames herself for Kate's twisted mind and tries to protect her. As a young child, her violent acts concern Ruth and she carries her to a psychiatrist. As a teenager, Kate disobeys rules, drinks, abuses drugs, and is promiscuous. She goes with boys for a good time. Then she falls in love with Luke Austin. She gets revenge for Luke's rejection by having an affair with his father, Gentry. She hates Gentry's mother and pretends she hates Luke. Kate seeks thrills and takes chances without considering consequences. She knows how to lie, steal, and get what she wants. She even knows how to commit murder. After her first murder, she escapes and changes her name as well as her appearance. She becomes a prostitute to support her drug habit and pay bills. Her affair with Kent Kramer, who loves his wife, causes even more problems. Will Linda Kramer learn the truth about Kate's affair with her husband? She settles the score with Kent for his rejection by her blackmail scheme. When the authorities close in on Kate, she fakes her death. Then she resorts to blackmail, robbery, and a second murder. Kate keeps the reader in suspense as to what she might do next. Will the authorities finally catch Kate and punish her for her crimes?
