Do you believe in the peace teachings of Jesus, but not in the way that the mass religions follow them? Isn't it disturbing that the people that claim to worship the master of peace brag about his murder? Do you find it unnerving that people once covered their bodies in animal blood to hide their sins from God, then killed the man they claimed to be God himself so they could cover themselves in God's blood? What do we make of these people that blame God for murders they commit, then try to hide from admitting to the sins they commit with this blood? What has gone wrong within the creation of religion to distract us from taking responsibility for our own evil deeds? What did Jesus really come to earth to do? Did he come to live, teach, and guide us, or did he come to earth to be betrayed and slaughtered so people could use him as a scapegoat? This books defends Jesus, showing a way to a spiritual philosophy based on an understanding that life was created at one point in time within eternity by a spirit of divine love. This Creator gave us free will to choose our own paths in finding or rejecting God, but did NOT ordain any ONE person or religion as absolute truth, because all man-made things are simply man-made, and not God made. visit:
